

H U G O K A U D E R (1 9 3 3)

SONG FROM "DEIRDRE" (W. B. YEATS)

Voice with Flute and Harp

SONG FROM >DEIRDRE<
(W. B. YEATS)

H. Kauder

Flute

Voice

Harp

Why is it, Queen Eclain said, if I do but climb the stair To the tower overhead,

When the winds are calling there, Or the gannets calling out, In waste places of the sky,

There's so much to think about, That I cry, that I cry? <

The musical score consists of three staves: Flute (top), Voice (middle), and Harp (bottom). The Flute part features eighth-note patterns. The Voice part has lyrics written above the notes. The Harp part provides harmonic support with sustained notes and chords. The score is in common time, with various key changes indicated by key signatures.

But her goodman answered her: "Love would be a thing of naught, Had not all his limbs a stir Born out of in-moderate thought; Were he any- thing by half, Were his measure running dry. Lovers, if they may not laugh,

Have to cry, have to cry. |